World famous member of Irish rebel songsters, The Wolf Tones, occasional plasterer and Kendall midfield lynchpin Kevin 'Gumsey' Goreham failed to show up at a crucial point in the season for a knockout cup game much to the annoyance of manager Donal Keane. Said a furious Keane, "Listen, I fed, changed and burped that malignant little pup for the last year and a half and now with the first bit of teething pain he disappears with his pacifier and a pot of warm honey. I mean are we trying to win a fuckin' cup here or what...!?! see Pg 9

THE LAST WORD.? DEBATE PT. 3

In our closing debate, Kendall keeper John O'Toole heads Weirside to settle an old score and shows he's as dexterous behind the podium as he is between the posts.

I'm convinced I was completely justified in sending Roy Keane home from the world cup, he cares naut for Ireland plus I knew that we had fantastic coverage in Lee Carsley and Jason McAteer.

Oh yah you're right there Mick, couldn't agree more. They should've given him a longer ban for the Haaland thing an' all like - Ya' dozy prick ya'.
